DR. BRIAN S. BIESMAN RECEIVES LEON GOLDMAN MEMORIAL AWARD Prestigious honor will be conferred at the 30th Annual Conference of the American Society for Laser Medicine and Surgery

Nashville---- Brian S. Biesman, MD, FACS, director of the Nashville Centre for Laser and Facial Surgery and clinical assistant professor at Vanderbilt University Medical Center with appointments in the divisions of Ophthalmology, Otolaryngology, and Dermatology, will be awarded the highest honor from the American Society for Laser Medicine and Surgery (ASLMS) at its upcoming annual conference on April 16, 2010.

The Leon Goldman Memorial Award recognizes the "Father of Laser Medicine," and is presented annually to an individual who has made a significant contribution to the broad field of laser science, technology and medicine. Dr. Biesman has spent his career making such contributions with years of excellence and leadership in performing clinical laser research, maintaining a high standard of patient care, and educating others in cutaneous laser surgery.

Dr. Biesman specializes in laser and facial surgery with a focus on eyelid plastic and reconstructive surgery and technology-based rejuvenation procedures. He is a noted local, national and international speaker whose research is directed toward broadening the use of lasers and other technology-based devices in minimally invasive rejuvenation options. His breakthrough studies have garnered him extensive exposure in the national and local media.
An accomplished author of many scientific papers, Dr. Biesman has written a textbook on the use of lasers in cosmetic and reconstructive surgery.

“I am delighted and proud to be honored with the ASLMS Leon Goldman Memorial Award. This is a tremendous achievement for me not only because of the prestige it carries but also because it independently recognizes longitudinal career excellence and the attributes of high ethical standards and a dedication to patients that were possessed by the award’s namesake,” said Dr. Biesman. “I look forward to sharing this award with my colleagues, staff and family at Laser 2010.”

Since becoming a member of the ASLMS in 1998, Dr. Biesman has participated in many committees and task forces. Notably, he served as President of the Society in 2008, leading a prestigious group of more than 4,000 leading laser specialists. In addition to his distinguished role with the ASLMS, Dr. Biesman is a past board member of the American Society of Ophthalmic Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons and active in several key professional organizations, including the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the American College of Surgeons, the American Medical Association, the Tennessee Society for Laser Medicine and Surgery and the Tennessee Association of Ophthalmology. One of only a few non-dermatologists in the nation to enjoy this acknowledgement, Dr. Biesman was recently awarded honorary membership in the American Society for Dermatologic Surgery for his multi-specialty expertise. He also sits on numerous corporate advisory boards and holds editorial positions of some of the leading medical journals.

A long-time resident of Nashville, Dr. Biesman is affiliated with numerous area hospitals and was the recipient of the Patients’ Choice Award in 2009 and 2008. He is enthusiastically involved in many local organizations. Dr. Biesman and his wife Didi have 3 children.
